DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless —

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Harris (EP 408,006 B1).

Harris discloses a track and trolley apparatus for movable wall panels 18 comprised of a plurality of track sections 42, 44, a set of diverter blades 48 act as a switch assembly at a junction in the track, as shown in figure 9. The blade 48 is laterally offset from the center of the track and also offset from the main track, as shown in figure 9. The system is further comprised of a plurality of trolleys attached to wall panels 18 by means of pendant bolt 34. The trolley is further comprised of a chassis 22 for accepting axles having wheels 24 mounted thereon. The trolley has a guide plate 47 positioned under the chassis 22 and connected by means of a downwardly extending base portion 36. The guide plate 47 as well as the top of the chassis 22 have diverting elements 46 to contact the diverter blades of the tracks so as to move the trolley from one track to another. The diverter elements 46 are laterally offset from the center of the trolley so as to mate with the diverter blades as shown in figures 10 and 11. One part of the extending pins 46 that mate with the diverter blades 48 are mounted to the side of the lower guide plate 47. The pendant bolt 34 acts as a center diverter element for the vehicle and the pendant bolt 34 also supports a pin support which is comprised of additional diverter elements laterally spaced from the center of the trolley. The second set of diverter elements 46 supported by pin support 47 are shown in figure 11.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed June 7, 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant recites that the prior art does not disclose the use of side and center diverter pins as recited in the amended claims. As stated above the trolley does have a plurality of diverter elements 46 shown in figures 10 and 11 of the prior art that are laterally offset from the center of the trolley. It is also interpreted that the pendant bolt 34 that extends below the center of the trolley works as a center diverter to guide the vehicle along the track.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

Art Unit: 3617

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Redondo (US 4,919,053), Sauerwein (US 6,220,173) and Baneck et al (US 6,619,468) all disclose types of overhead trolleys.
